

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A tube-shaped shielding member is configured to enclose a plurality of wires collectively. The tube-shaped shielding member includes: a main shield portion made of a metal pipe; and a sub-shield portion formed shorter than the main shield portion and configured to be deformable, to thereby protect the wires from objects such as bounced stones.